

Highlights from the Press – Dr. Lo

Dr. Lo Riesling NV

[91] International Wine & Spirits Competition

The Oregonian Reviewed by Michael Alberty

It may sound odd, but the great thing about this wine is that it actually smells and tastes like the grape listed on the label. This is definitely not the case with all non-alcoholic wines. The Riesling's aromas include peaches, lemon sorbet and a light petrol note. Flavors such as honeydew melon, a fresh-baked croissant and Lemonhead candies seal the deal. January 18, 2023

[88] Falstaff International – Anne Krebiehl MW

Both fresh and tinned pineapple notes immediately hit the nose alongside overtones of mango and ripe, juicy citrus. Wonderfully sharp freshness counters the sweet and exuberant pineapple and mango fruit and makes this rather refreshing. The finish is sweet but also zesty and balanced and there is actual fruity length. January 2022

Best Buy — Wine Enthusiast

May 2023

SevenFifty Daily – Valerie Kathawala

The still version of alcohol-free Riesling from Dr. Lo, this wine has a refreshing, acidic edge that keeps an abundance of ripe, juicy, tropical fruits in balance. July 2023

Dr. Lo Riesling with Bubbles NV

The Oregonian Reviewed by Michael Alberty

This is my favorite of all the 0.5% ABV or lower wines I tasted. The sparkling version of Dr. Lo's Riesling is flat-out fun, with frisky bubbles delivering aromas like Golden Delicious apples, lime and honey. The wine's candied ginger and lemon drop flavors are backed by a nice bit of acidity. January 18, 2023

[88] Falstaff International – Anne Krebiehl MW

Frothy bubbles carry lively notes of juicy pineapple and mango accompanied by some lime zestiness. The palate is foamy, frothy, full of tropical fruit flavours and a picture of foamy lightness. This seems like a summer party in a glass and comes with exquisite lightness. The finish is off-dry and balanced by Riesling's customary freshness. January 2022

[88] Owen Bargreen

Peach and green apple notes mingle with sweetened gooseberry on the palate. May 22, 2023

Best Buy — Wine Enthusiast

May 2023

SevenFifty Daily – Valerie Kathawala

With Bubbles opens with an appealing nose of citrus and stone fruit. On the palate, there's a cheerful effervescence, bright, clear fruit, and decent acidity. July 2023
